

Mission Statement

The Bella Moss Foundation will work towards progressing change in Veterinary regulation and practice; support research into MRSA and other serious infections affecting companion animals; offer support and information to pet owners seeking advice on the care of their pet; offer information to the public and the veterinary profession on the risks of MRSA and other serious post-operative infections; and support, sponsor and participate in conferences and other gatherings concerned with MRSA and other infections affecting companion animals and their owners.

Main Aims and Objectives

1. To achieve changes to the regulation of vets by working with statutory bodies and Government Departments;
2. To achieve improved veterinary practice through the dissemination of relevant research and support for enforceable practice standards in infection control;
3. To use donated monies to support and sponsor research into MRSA and other serious infections affecting pets;
4. To make available relevant information to pet owners seeking advice on the care of their pet;
5. To use a range of media to offer information to the wider public and veterinary profession on issues relating to MRSA and other serious infections affecting pets;
6. To use donated monies to support, sponsor and participate in conferences and other relevant gatherings that share or develop knowledge of MRSA and other serious infections affecting pets;

7. To use donated monies to support the establishment of a veterinary facility caring for pets suffering from MRSA and other serious infections.
